DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claims 3 and 4 are objected to because of the following informalities: Claim 3 depends from claim 1 and claim 2. Claim 2 has been cancelled. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Jetten et al. (WO 00/50621).

Considering Claim 16: Jetten et al. teaches a carbohydrate polymer comprising aldehyde monomers on at least 4% of the monomer units (¶0015) where the aldehyde groups are present on the primary hydroxyl group/C6 carbon (¶0003). Jetten et al. teaches a food component comprising dietary fiber and the carbohydrate (¶0018).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 12-15, 17, and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Loercks et al. (US 2001/0039303) in view of Jetten et al. (WO 00/50621).

Considering Claims 12-15, 16, and 17: Loercks et al. teaches a composition comprising thermoplastic starch (§0021); a polyester (§0021), glycerol and water (§0062). Loercks et al. teaches the composition as being in the form of granules, an article or blown film (Table 1).

Loercks et al. does not teach adding a carbohydrate polymers having aldehyde groups on the C6 carbon. However, Jetten et al. teaches a carbohydrate polymer comprising aldehyde monomers on at least 4% of the monomer units (§0015) where the aldehyde groups are present on the primary hydroxyl group/C6 carbon (§0003). Jetten et al. teaches the carbohydrate as being added to starch compositions (§0018). Loercks et al. and Jetten et al. are analogous art as they are concerned with the same field of endeavor, namely starch compositions. It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to have added the carbohydrate of Jetten et al. to the composition of Loercks et al., and the motivation to do so would have been, as Jetten et al. suggests, to improve the viscosity properties of the composition (¶0018).

Loercks et al. does not teach the carbohydrate as being added in the claimed amount. However, differences in concentration generally will not support the patentability of subject matter encompassed by the prior art unless there is evidence indicating such concentration or temperature is critical. See MPEP § 2144.05. It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to have optimized the amount of carbohydrate through routine optimization, and the motivation to do so would have been, as Jetten et al. suggests, to improve the viscosity properties of the composition (¶0018).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1, 6-8, 10, 11, and 19 are allowed.

Claims 3 and 4 would be allowable following correction of the typo as set forth above.

The reasons for allowance are the same as those set forth in the previous action.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 12-18 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
